

View this email in your browser

EdUpdate

Washington University School of Medicine
Office of Education

Issue 46, February 2022

Eva's Excerpt

I heard this song on one of my morning workouts and it just made me think so much about our team and the work that everyone has been doing in these challenging times. The lyrics truly represent how I feel about every single person at the School of Medicine.

You're doing a good job
Don't get too down
The world needs you now
Know that you matter

Important Updates

WUSM Explore Program Holds Inaugural Inquiry Symposium

In December, our inaugural Gateway Curriculum class shared their scholarly work as part of the Inquiry Symposium, hosted by our EXPLORE Program. Five projects were selected for Oral Presentation, and many more were celebrated in a virtual symposium structure. We had over 50 of our WUSM faculty members in attendance to hear about our students' work, and to provide feedback on presentations. We celebrated our student projects addressing diverse healthcare problems, including addressing malnutrition using the microbiome, association of medicaid enrollment timing with breast cancer outcomes, factors influencing representation in neurosurgical careers, using artificial intelligence in patient care, and much more. Click here to see the final booklet.

LCME Update

LCME continues to move along. The self-study sub-committees are currently meeting and will conclude at the end of April. The Executive Committee will then commence to draft our institutional self-study report. Please reference the WUSMAccred2023 website to view the timeline and relevant accreditation information.

- LCME Kickoff
- Independent Student Analysis survey
- DCI draft for self-study teams
- Self-study chairs training
- Self-study sub-committee meetings (in progress)

WUSM Interprofessional Student Clinic Now Open

The Washington University in St. Louis, School of Medicine Student Interprofessional Clinic was established to provide interim, high-quality, trauma-informed interprofessional care to medically under resourced patients referred for care by designated colleagues in the WUSM Department of Neurology and Emergency Department.

Under the supervision of dedicated faculty, students of Medicine, Occupational Therapy, and Physical Therapy, will deliver free services in the 4444 building until patients can be connected to ongoing primary care services in the community through our Community Referral Coordinator (CRC), Brittany Jones through the Integrated Health Network.

This clinic will operate on Friday afternoons in an initial pilot phase. There are no volunteer opportunities at this time.

Events

Grand Rounds presentation with Dr. Read Pierce, MD

The Office of Education invites you to attend a Grand Rounds presentation and workshop led by Dr. Read Pierce, MD on Tuesday, Feb. 15. Space is limited for the workshop. Click here to RSVP.

8-9am - Informational session

A New Leadership Imperative: Caring for the people who take care of people

10-12pm - Workshop

Practical Skills to Promote Wellbeing Through Acts of Leadership

Registration Open for CIPE Spring Workshops

The Center for Interprofessional Practice and Education Spring 2022 series continues this month with:

The Team Development Measure for Interprofessional Education: How can it help us teach teamwork in IPE?

Explore the domains of the TDM for IPE and how they relate to the Interprofessional Education Collaborative competencies, develop skills for providing feedback to IPE student teams using the TDM for IPE as a framework, and gain knowledge that will support teaching teamwork. Facilitated by Dennis Chang, MD, Jan Hanson, PhD, EdS, and Monica Perlmutter, OTD, OTR/L.

To register and see the full list of workshops, click here.

ICBME Hosting Monthly Webinars

The International Competency-based Medical Education (ICBME) collaborators are a group of leading international experts who examine conceptual issues and current debates in competency-based medical education (CBME). As part of their engagement in ongoing discussions of CBME issues, they are hosting their 5th series of CBME webinars, running monthly through June 2022.

For a full list of webinars in the series and registration details, click here.

Announcements

Loeb Teaching Fellowship Call for Applications Opening Soon

The Carol B. and Jerome T. Loeb Teaching Fellows program provides fellows the opportunity to implement ideas that augment the education of medical students and residents. The program was established to advance education at WUSM by honoring faculty committed to excellence and education, and encouraging teaching excellence to residents and students. To learn more about the process, the selection committee, current and previous Loeb Fellows, and to apply, click here.

Teaching Scholars Program (TSP) Call for Applications

The Academy of Educators Teaching Scholar Program is recruiting its new cohort of participants. TSP is a 12-month certificate program designed to enhance knowledge and skills, and develop future leaders in healthcare education with a focus on core components of educational scholarship and curriculum development. The call for applications is now open. The deadline to submit an application is Friday, March 4, 5pm. For more information about the program, time requirements, and how to apply, click here.

Alisa Muñoz joins Instructional Design Studio

The Instructional Design Studio welcomes Alisa Muñoz as an Education Specialist/Instructional Designer. Alisa joined the team in December 2021 and came to us with a background in higher education and educational publishing. Alisa will serve the degree programs at the School of Medicine, including the MD Gateway curriculum, to provide evidence-informed recommendations for best practices in education. She will also assist in designing and creating digital assets, including videos and interactive modules. Welcome, Alisa!

New: Methods in Education Scholarship certificate program

The Academy of Educators in collaboration with the Medical Education Research Unit (MERU) is offering, “Methods in Education Scholarship,” a new certificate program for educators who would like to develop their skills for education research and scholarship. The program will equip educators to plan an education research/scholarship project and write a full proposal that can be used to implement the project, apply to the IRB for approval to do research with human participants, and/or apply for an education grant. The program is eight week long, two hours/week with independent work required in between meetings. Specific dates/times TBD once participants are selected. To learn more and to apply, click here.

Volunteer with Casa de Salud

Casa de Salud provides high quality health and wellness services for underserved communities in St. Louis: immigrants, refugees, and the uninsured. They count on dedicated volunteers to help them meet this mission.

- Medically Licensed Volunteer Application
 - Non-Medically Licensed Volunteer Application
-

Academy of Educators Special Workshop Request

Washington University School of Medicine faculty have a plethora of specialty expertise areas. Are you interested in learning how to give proper feedback? Want to learn about best practices in creating and implementing assessment? Or, maybe you want to host a workshop for your department regarding work-life balance. The Academy of Educator members are available to conduct many styles of workshops for what you need. To request a workshop, click here.

Scholarship & Accolades

The Divide: Confronting Racism in American Health Care

Kaytlin Reedy-Rogier was involved in a documentary short about the Pipeline to Compassionate Care Initiative through the IHN. It features one of our students during her immersion at Affinia Healthcare. It's a beautiful film and we highly recommend watching!

Audrey Coolman to present at Beyond Flexner 2022

Congratulations to Audrey Coolman for her 90-minute workshop Integrating Health Equity and Justice into a Medical School Curriculum - Lessons Learned being accepted at the Beyond Flexner 2022 Conference!

Personal & Professional Development

Racial Equity, Civic, and Community Engagement Resources

The Office of Education is dedicated to educating ourselves as individuals and as an education team on issues of structural racism, best practices in education, and effective leadership to ensure we can maximally contribute to change. Click here for a running list of resources that we are continuing to gather.

Stay strong in 2022 with mindfulness practices

Positively impact your mindset, your body, and everyone in your life by learning how to develop formal and informal mindfulness practices that can help you reduce stress and anxiety through WashU's Move into Mindfulness series. Sessions are available via Zoom for all employees and facilitated by Meg Krejci, wellness consultant and expert facilitator of the Mind Body Stress Reduction program (MBSR).

Additional wellness resources here.

Publications

To view recent education publications, visit the Office of Education website.

Feedback

Feedback?! Please take a couple of minutes to complete the following survey to help us improve the newsletter.

EdUpdate is a monthly newsletter from the Senior Associate Dean for Education featuring information and opportunities for the Office of Education community.

To subscribe and receive the EdUpdate, click here.

Copyright © 2022 Washington University in St. Louis, All rights reserved.

All rights reserved.

EdUpdate Newsletter Archive

Want to change how you receive these emails?
You can update your preferences or unsubscribe from this list.